

SOUTH KENTUCKIAN

CHAS. M. MEACHAM, Editor
HOPKINSVILLE, APRIL 17, 1883.

We are authorized to announce Prof. H. B. Wayland, of Cadiz, as a candidate for County Judge of Trigg county. Election August, 1883.

We are authorized to announce Capt. Ralph Sheldon, of Nelson county, as a candidate for re-election as Register of the Land Office, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election August, 1883.

Peter Cooper left an estate valued at $2,000,000.

A heavy snow storm last Saturday blocked all the highways and railroads in Dakota.

Prof. H. K. Taylor, of Vanceburg, is the latest candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Town Marshal Smith, of Princeton, Ky., has skipped out several hundred dollars short in his accounts.

Don't forget the preinvention conventions at 2 o'clock Saturday week, to appoint delegates to the county convention.

There are 70 miles of paved streets in Boston. Thirty miles of these are paved every day, but last fall the Democrats paved not only the whole city but the whole state of Massachusetts.

General Order from the Postoffice Department.

Here's Romance For You.

On Thursday April 5th, Mr. Chas. B. Kin man, of Hickman, Ky., and Miss Etta Nisbet, of Madisonville, were married. The attendants were Prof. Zeno F. Young, editor of the Madisonville Times and Miss Jessie Turner, of Hickman. The party passed this city en route to Hickman on the day of the wedding, notice of which was made in the South Kentuckian. So far all was simply according to programme, but the romantic part came in later. Mr. Young was in love with and engaged Miss Turner, a fact which did not state in our brief notice. They met some two months ago, since which time Miss Turner had been visiting friends in Madisonville. Both parties engaged in a flirtations but a mutual attachment sprang up between them which culminated in a wedding last Wednesday evening, the 11th inst., which was as romantic as it was unexpected. When the King-n-Nisbet bridal party reached Hickman it was Mr. Young's intention to remain there a day or two and return home, but he lingered and continued to linger and the more he thought of leaving the more he was disposed to linger. At last a time was set to go but when it arrived they could not be separated and so they went to the Laclede Hotel in Hickman and were very quietly married by Rev. Mr. Pindar of the Episcopal church. The bride is a daughter of Capt. W. J. Turner of the steamer Tyler and is a most charming, captivating and intelligent young lady and Zeno is to be congratulated upon having won her. He is one of the cleverest, jolliest, and most capable and forcible writers on the Kentucky press and is making the Madisonville Times one of the brightest and best country papers in the State.

For the last year or more he has been doing more courting to the square inch than any man in the State and met his fate in one of his numerous flirtations. Here's our hard old boy, may Heaven's choicest blessings rest upon you and as you glide smoothly over the rippling waters of the ever onward stream of Time, may its verdant banks be ever strewn with kind and loving friends who will vie with each other in tossing to you the golden apples of unalloyed happiness and perpetual prosperity.

LEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.—C. T. Allen of Caldwell county; E. Polk Johnson, of Jefferson; A. B. Smith of Henry; J. B. Hindman, of Adair and Van B. Young of Bath.

ATTORNEY GENERAL.—Fayette Hewitt, of Hardin county.

STATE TREASURER.—J. W. Tate, of Franklin county.

REGISTER OF LAND OFFICE.—J. Alex Grant, of Franklin county; N. P. Porter, of Woodford; Thomas H. Corbett, of McCracken; J. G. Clegg, of Pike; Ralph Sheldon, of Nelson; Lin Boyd, of Calloway.

STRENTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.—George M. Edgar, of Warren county; Joseph D. Pickett, of Fayette, and Z. P. Smith, of Henry and H. K. Taylor, of Lewis.

REGISTER OF LAND OFFICE.—J. Alex Grant, of Franklin county; N. P. Porter, of Woodford; Thomas H. Corbett, of McCracken; J. G. Clegg, of Pike; Ralph Sheldon, of Nelson; Lin Boyd, of Calloway.

DR. JNO. D. WOODS saluted the readers of the Bowling Green Gazette to the extent of a column last week but the Doctor was in one of his "ways" and no one but a college graduate could tell what he was driving at.

Mr. C. T. Sutton has transferred the Hartford Herald to Mr. Jno. P. Barrett, its former owner and editor, who will assume editorial control of it at once. He is an old hand at the newspaper business and made the Herald what it is.

All four of the Judges of the Court of Appeals are now upon the bench and are trying to work off all the old cases on the docket before adjournment. Some of them have been seeking health in other states, or getting married and consequently the business of the court has been neglected until recently.

Dr. Jno. D. Woods has assumed editorial control of the Bowling Green Gazette which will be published semi-weekly in the future. Our fraternal benison rests upon him. May the rattle of the shekels in his pocket ever make sweet music for his ears, his fondest hopes be realized and all his paths be paths of peace and prosperity.

(Signed). FRANK HATTON,
Acting Postmaster General.

Blifkins was telling his girl about how people sometimes fished for compliments when an idea seemed to strike her and she suddenly asked: "What is the difference between you and President Arthur?"

Blifkins straightened himself up and replied that he didn't know that there was much difference.

"Yes, there is, don't you know what it is?"

"No."

"Give it up?"

"Yes."

You see the President is going around Kissimmee to fish and I am afraid you are going to fish around to kiss me.

A large hole thirty feet in diameter has opened on the farm of Bayless Weddle, three miles from Somerset, Ky. A tree sixty feet high was carried out of sight, and a stone thrown in is several seconds in striking the bottom. It is said to be the deepest hole of the kind ever seen in this country, being practically without a bottom.—Elizabethon News.

You seem to forget the hole that was made in the Republican party last fall when Robeson and other statesmen (?) dropped out of politics.

There is talk of closing the Owensboro Public Schools on account of the recent decision of the Federal court at Paducah sustaining the right of the colored children to share the common school fund equally with the white children. If this fund is to be divided the schools will have to suspend for lack of means to carry them on, and the Messenger says they cannot begin again until the Legislature meets and grants the schools a new charter.

Here is our prediction as to Christian county. The county will instruct as follows: For Governor, Knott; Lieutenant-Governor, Allen first, Johnson second; Attorney General, Jones; Register of the Land Office, Sheldon; Superintendent of Public Instruction, Edgar; Auditor, Hewitt; Treasurer, Tate. The race will be closer between Hardin and Jones for Attorney General than between any of the other candidates.

SOCIALITIES.

Mr. W. P. Tamm, of the Clarksville Chronicle, was in the city last week.
Mrs. M. E. Rodgers has gone East to buy her spring stock of millinery goods.

Miss Belle and Julia Robertson, Burlington Town, are visiting at Mr. G. A. Chapman's.

Mr. Jno. A. F. Brown is now to be found behind the counter in Guyton & Merritt's grocery.

Mrs. C. V. Gordon, of Glasgow, Ky., paid a visit last week to the family of her brother, Mr. Jno. N. Mills.

Mrs. Fred Schweltzer and family left last Tuesday for Evansville, where they will reside in the future.

Capt. J. T. Greer, of Trigg county, accepted a position with the implement house of J. H. Winfree & Co.

Miss Lillian Nunn, of Texas, and Miss Mamie Henry, of Peedee, were the guests of Mrs. L. A. Syvert, last week.

Mr. H. B. Thomas, of the "Gents' Furnishing Establishment," of Thomas, Pearce & Co., Louisville, was in the city last week.

Miss Mary Hayes, a charming young lady, from New York, is visiting her sister, Miss Alice Hayes, at Mr. Isaac Hart's.

Mr. A. W. Pye and family are spending this week with relatives in the neighborhood of Kirkmanville. As chess carried his darning poles with him we may expect to hear a number of truthful fish stories upon his return.

Mr. J. W. Richards, of Indian Mount, Tenn., who has been in McKee & P'Pool's grocery for some weeks past, has decided to make Hopkinsville his future home, and has accepted a permanent position with Messrs. McKee & P'Pool. We extend him a cordial welcome to our city.

Miss Mary L. Githrie, of Blountfield, Nelson county, Ky., who has been connected with Prof. Wayland's school at Cadiz as a teacher passed through the city Wednesday evening. She was accompanied by Mr. Henry H. Ilyau, one of the most popular and highly respected young farmers of Trigg county, whose handsome features were wreathed in happy smiles. There is a vague rumor that he is to some extent responsible for Miss Githrie's leaving Cadiz, and that she will return before the end of June, however, to resume her former duties. Our readers may not be surprised to detect the odor of orange blossoms upon the spring breezes.

To The Public.

I deem it my duty to state that Ellen Cenour the woman sent to the small-pox hospital from Mr. Dave Tandy's, has only a bad case of variole produced by virus such as all the physicians here have been using this season. The early symptoms in her case were identical with those some time seen in variole and as it was reported from several sources that she had been exposed to small-pox it was considered prudent by the proper authorities to have her removed from Mr. Tandy's until her case had time to develop.

It was unfortunate that she should have been placed near the other cases of small-pox for one hour and contrary to my orders.

It is impossible for her to have communicated any disease to Mr. Tandy's family before her removal.

The Republican mass convention yesterday afternoon renominated Senator Pratt and Representative Breathitt, endorsed President Arthur, recommended Maj. S. R. Crumback for the Navy Portfolio and appointed delegates to the Lexington convention May 23rd. Judge J. L. Landes was chairman and Judge T. E. Lawson secretary. The proceedings in full will appear next week.

Remember the South Kentuckian is the cheapest and best paper published in the county, and besides giving the freshest and fullest news for the least money, also gives each subscriber a free ticket in a fair and impartial distribution of 100 prizes worth $700. And bear this in mind we stop all papers when out and force no man to take the paper after his time is out.

Mr. Dan H. Merritt, who has for some years past been with Mr. Robt. Guyton in his grocery has entered into a partnership with him, the style of the firm being Guyton & Merritt. He is a young gentleman well and favorably known in the community and the new firm will merit and command a large share of the public patronage.

Since the first of January our subscription list has been steadily increased by voluntary cash subscriptions at the rate of over one hundred new ones a month. Some days we have received as high as twenty-five or thirty cash subscribers. Very few of our old subscribers have failed to renew and our net increase since Jan. 1st has been nearly four hundred, and subscriptions are still coming in at an average rate of thirty a week.

We now have on hand a large stock of Standard "Anchor Square" and Satchel Bottom paper bags, of all sizes, which we will sell at city prices. Do not give your orders to foreign dealers, as we will duplicate eastern bills. We handle nothing but the very best goods, and will furnish them at bottom prices, printed or unprinted. All sizes of flour sacks also kept constantly on hand. Give us a call and sustain home trade.

IN THE COUNTY.

The cases in the county have all been collected in three places and are

"BOROLINE."

Battle About a Bad Bill.

On last Tuesday morning a bloody encounter took place between Kee R. McKee, business manager of the South Kentuckian, and Prof. Henry G. O'Neill, a scientific inventor of this city. The circumstances leading to the fight, and the combat as reported by witnesses, were as follows:

On March 30th, during the small-pox scare, Prof. O'Neill came to the office of the South Kentuckian and had some circulars printed advertising "Boroline," an invention of his, as a sure preventive for small-pox. He stated that the bills would be paid for when he got them, and the matter was regarded as a cash transaction. When the work was finished Prof. O'Neill did not call for it himself, but sent a friend who stated that O'Neill had just used all his money ordering drugs and that he would settle the bill the next day. With this understanding he was permitted to take the bills without paying for them. At the time set the account, which was only $2, was not settled by O'Neill. Some days afterwards it was presented to him and he promised to pay the following Saturday. McKee, who presented the account, reported this and on Tuesday morning was instructed to see O'Neill again and tell him that the account must be settled without further proulsing. McKee found O'Neill in the vacant store being fitted up for J. P. Nolan and again presented the account. O'Neill again promised to pay in the future and McKee told him that his instructions were to collect the bill then, as it was regarded as a cash transaction. O'Neill became highly incensed at this and, as McKee says, told him that he had promised to pay Saturday, but now he would say that he would not and didn't know that he would ever pay it, and ended by ordering McKee to get out of the vacant store in which they were standing. McKee indignantly refused and O'Neill replied that he would put him out and hold him if McKee shoved him back and O'Neill then dealt him a savage blow on the nose with his fist. McKee then proceeded to draw dull barb wire knife, but before he could do so O'Neill struck him again and was following up his blow with another when McKee began to stab his breast, but could not ent through his clothing, so he began to cut him about the face, while O'Neill continued to display scientific pugilism by pounding McKee in the face with his fists. They fought for perhaps a minute when they were finally separated by a step ladder being thrust between them. McKee was found to be badly bruised and beaten about the face, as Prof. O'Neill is said to be a professional boxer and is a man of iron muscle and athletic movements. O'Neill was severely gashed about the face and soon began to grow weak from loss of blood. His nose was slit, one eyelid was cut nearly off, the ball narrowly escaping and his face and head were cut in probably half a dozen places. The cut in his breast was not serious, as it did not go to the lung.

McKee was able to be about in a day or two, though he still retained the effects of the fight in the shape of a black eye and the unsettled bill. O'Neill is still confined and probably will be for several days longer and the trial for breach of the peace will not be held until the aggressor is able to appear in court.

Mr. McKee is a young man of quiet, gentlemanly demeanor, universally courteous and polite in every respect, but is courageous and cool in the face of danger and when Prof. O'Neill made his fierce and unexpected assault upon his youthful adversary, the latter proceeded to defend himself and but for his dull pocket-knife O'Neill would quickly have disabled him with his scientific blows. McKee's action in so gallantly defending himself against an experienced pugilist was universally applauded by the citizens of Hopkinsville, old and young. He is one of the most popular young gentlemen in the city and his friends crowded around him by the score to congratulate him upon so fearlessly and successfully defending himself against his more powerful combatant with so inferior a weapon.

The Smallpox.

The smallpox has disappeared entirely from the city and there is now only one case in the hospital. Nellie Joiner, the 12th case reported, which was the only one reported last week, proved to have a very mild case of variole and was in bed only a few days. On last Thursday Sylvia Campbell, an old negro woman living on Jackson street was found to have smallpox. It is not known how she contracted the disease, though it is said she caught it from washing infected clothing. She was taken to the hospital and will probably die. She is the 13th case in the city and hers is now the only one in the vicinity of the city.

Last Saturday an Irish girl employed as cook at Mr. D. A. Tandy's became sick from vaccination and as there was some difference of opinion about her case she was taken to the hospital in order to be on the safe side. It has since been decided by the physicians that she has neither smallpox nor variole, but her sickness was caused by vaccination. She is now getting well rapidly.

This is the full and we hope the final report of the disease and all excitement is gone.
